JORDAN PRESIDENT OF NEW BOARD OF TRUSTEES

There were two city trustees' meetings last Monday night—the old and the new. The old, who have been in office for two years or longer, and the new, those who have just been elected.

Following reading and adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting of the old board, all accumulated business was suspended, and the returns of the election of April 12 were canvassed and found correct as reported.

The trustees elect, John B. Jordan, Alfred K. Miller and George L. Wood, were then called within the rail, where City Clerk Saidee Van Brower administered the oath of office. Thereupon Trustee Wood arose and placed in nomination for president of the board John B. Jordan, and there being no other nominations John B. Jordan was declared elected. In assuming the position, with applause from the "gallery," Jordan said: "I assure you I accept this office with pleasure. The election was clear-cut and clean. I promise you to do the best we can with the assistance of the people." And in conclusion, following in the steps of K.C.B., John said, "I thank you."

Trustee Wood said: "I endorse what the chairman has said. I hope the citizens will have patience with us." Trustee Miller is a man of action and few words. He said: "Judge us by our work a year from now."

In accordance with ordinance, Mayor Jordan immediately appointed the commissioners of the various departments, as follows:

Jordan—Finance.
Miller—Streets and Highways.
Dennis—Fire and Police.
Larouette—Water and Light.
Wood—Health and Safety.

The assignments show that the old members of the board have commissions other than those they held in the last administration. Larouette was formerly Fire and Police Commissioner, and Dennis was Health and Safety chief.

The first reversal of old board action occurred when a motion was adopted rescinding the punitive clause in the house-numbering resolution.

Asked as to the desire and ability of the Sanitary Board as to the making of more connections with the general sewer, R. C. DeYoe, a member of that board, stated that more connections were not desirable at this time. He also stated that the suit against Mrs. Wells would be withdrawn.

The resignation of L. S. Slevin as City Treasurer was read. A committee of three was appointed to recommend a successor.

The city attorney was instructed to prepare an amendment to the zoning ordinance defining exactly what a "tea room" is.

Just before the election returns were canvassed Trustee Kibbler took occasion to thank his fellow members for courtesies extended to him during his presidency of the board.

An executive session to discuss Harrison Library matters was held after the regular meeting.

The board meets again next Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon and Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Sturge drove to Los Angeles this week to visit relatives. C. J. Arne will have charge of the church services at Carmel church while the pastor is absent.

POSTOFFICE WILL REMAIN WHERE IT IS

On several occasions during the last two or three months talk has been going about that plans were under way for the removal of the local postoffice.

In order to ascertain just what the status of the matter was Thomas W. Morgan, Jr., wrote the Postoffice Department. He received the reply printed below, which should put the quietus on removal agitation:

"Dear Mr. Morgan:

... in regard to any attempt to move the postoffice. . . . That post-office building was erected especially for a postoffice, under a lease covering some few years, and it is not the policy of the Government to break leases.

"To my mind there is no use or necessity for moving the office even when the present lease expires, and I believe that the lease will be renewed at that time. You are at liberty to tell any one who has in mind the removal of the post office, which is very centrally located for all concerned.

Very truly yours,

W. I. MADEIRA,
Post Office Inspector."

MOVIE PEOPLE HERE

With Lou Tellegen and a company of thirty-eight actors and actresses the William Fox Film Company is shooting scenes on the James property at Carmel Highlands and vicinity. Next week the company moves over to Pacific Grove beach.

Unless the name of the play is changed, it will be released under the title of "Married Lies."

While working at the Highlands, the company is quartered at the Inn.

Interesting and instructive books, for which owners have no further use, may be taken to the local library to be forwarded to Miss Hadden.

POINT LOBOS MAY HAVE WAR MEMORIAL

Monterey county's hero dead are to have a memorial at Point Lobos, that famous bit of land which forms the southerly arm of Carmel bay.

Efforts of several months on the part of ex-service men of this county to secure a memorial for those who gave their lives in war bore fruit when the county board of supervisors adopted a resolution calling for a suit of quiet title to Point Lobos.

Howard W. Cozzens, county surveyor, was instructed in the resolution to make a survey of the point with a view to bringing a friendly suit against A. M. Allen to quiet title to the point.

Plans, after acquisition of the point, the not definitely made.

The memorial is the result of the efforts of all ex-service men's organizations in the county, the matter having been keenly agitated by them for several months.

In 1890, when the Carmelito subdivision was officially brought into existence, Point Lobos was reserved as a park and dedicated to the public, giving the people a proprietary interest in the miniature peninsula.

BE KIND TO ANIMALS WEEK

By a Pupil of Sunset School

Humane week was very appropriately observed by the teachers and pupils of Sunset School. Instead of making posters and competing for prizes as in previous years, articles about animals and pets were read each morning, and poems, compositions, plays and stories were enthusiastically written by the pupils for their English work.

On Friday morning, April 16, a program was given in the auditorium, consisting of music, recitations by the younger pupils, and of a play, stories, and poems chosen from those written by the pupils during the week.

All the grades took part, making humane week helpful and interesting for the school.

NEW QUARTERS FOR OLD CLUB

A growing city, an augmented membership roll and the need of sufficient housing facilities has determined the Manzanita Club to erect a building of its own. The structure is now under construction on Dolores street between Eighth and Ninth.

The building was designed by Guy O. Koepf, and is being built by M. J. Murphy. A comfortable club room of large dimensions, dressing rooms and a modern kitchen are the outstanding features.

CARMEL FIRM INCORPORATES

The Mission Chalk Rock and Products Co. of Carmel has filed articles of incorporation under the laws of California. The capital stock of the concern is $50,000.

The officers are: William Machado, president; L. W. Jordan, vice-president, and C. W. Bates, secretary and treasurer.

The corporation is a consolidation of the separate business of William Machado and Philip Wilson, Jr., handling sand, gravel, chalk rock, garden dirt and builders' supplies. The offices are on Dolores street.

MODERN HOSPITAL IN CARMEL WOODS

Surveying of the grounds on a picturesque site in Carmel Woods is now under way for the erection of a modern hospital, which, when completed, will cost approximately $35,000.

Mrs. Edith B. Shuffleton, a graduate nurse of southern California, of much experience in her profession, is owner of the institution and will manage it.

Robert J. Stanton, the contractor, announces that the building, an L-shaped structure, will be of a Spanish type. The plans call for eight patients' rooms, an office and quarters for nurses and attendants. The building will be so constructed that additions may be made when needed.

Beautiful grounds will be laid out.

THEY BELIEVE IN LAW ENFORCEMENT

The first Carmel organization to take a definite stand on the all-absorbing prohibition question in the Christian Science Society.

At a meeting of the membership on Wednesday evening, April 21, in the church building, the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, An organized effort is being made to undermine the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States by attempting to legalize the sale of wine and beer, be it

Resolved, by the members of Christian Science Society of Carmel, California, That we heartily support the Constitution, including the Eighteenth Amendment; and be it further

Resolved, That we oppose the effort to weaken or modify the Volstead Act so as to reestablish in any degree the traffic in alcoholic liquor; and be it further

Resolved, That we believe the law can be enforced, and give our hearty support to such enforcement.

SMOKE

From April "Wee Acorn"

Smoke—and how many weird fancies come with it; and from how many different places it rises. This time it will rise from Agra.

It is all cool and still; the moon has risen. It shines on the lotus and the white walls of a mosque—and from the mosque rises a thin spiral of fragrant smoke, to lose its way in the jungle.

Inside the mosque all is sweet and motionless. It is dark too, and the moonlight, falling chequered through the ivory lattice-work, is the only illumination except that of some glowing coals in a graceful brazier, from which the column of smoke rises.

Everything seems lifeless — everything is silent, until, one by one, white figures issue from a hitherto unseen doorway, all clad in flowing, silken garments, soft as down. They have thrown back their veils now, and their faces are disclosed to view. They are beautiful as the houris of Arabian tales. Their eyes are dark and luminous, like deep water flowing stilly on, and they are shaded by long silken lashes; their hair is black as the raven's wing, and their figures are tall and graceful as they begin to sway in rhythm to music. They are having a religious ceremony.

And now the moon is sinking, casting orange rays into the still blue night. A tiger roars in the jungle. The maidens veil themselves and disappear. The fire in the brazier is burnt out.

The smoke is still.

EARL McHARRY

Here he comes, Earl McHarry, the next Sheriff of Monterey County.

Ah! here he comes now! EARL McHARRY, the popular dairymen of Blanco, and a product of that rich soil. A descendant of one of the pioneer families of old Ireland. His grandfather, "Jimmy," came from Ireland and dug gold in the mines of Northern California. Later, he became a prosperous rancher in Contra Costa county, near Martinez, where his son, James, Jr., was born and to the latter was given the son in birth who was also born at Martinez.

When three years of age, being deprived of his father, Earl was brought to Salinas where his mother located and began teaching in the local schools.

Earl received his education there and grew to manhood under this environment. At the age of 12 years he went to live with James Bardin, one of the pioneers of Monterey county, where he remained for seven years. In 1902 he went to work for the Southern Pacific Railroad, his route extending from Pacific Grove to San Francisco. He still holds his membership in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

In 1909, Earl was married to Miss Maggie Bardin and with the help of his good wife established one of the finest appointed dairies in the county, leaving the railroad in 1909.

Through exercise and industry he has a herd of about 150 cows of the highest grade.

Earl McHarry is a member of the Elks and is the proud father of one son, Charles, a student in the local high school.

McHarry is a man of striking personality, likable from the ground up, splendid physique and fully fitted for the coveted office.

He stands 5 feet 11½ inches in his stocking feet and weighs 200 pounds, with the heart of a fawn and the courage of a lion.

Now, look out for the product of Blanco!

The annual finance campaign of the Salvation Army will shortly be held in Monterey County and preparations are being made to have workers in all sections of the county by the time the campaign opens. The county's quota has been set at $4800. There will be a Carmel committee.

Haldis Stabell, who last summer gave some most successful lectures and courses of instruction on "Health" and "Renaissance of the Body," has obtained from Washington permission to remain in America indefinitely. She will occupy her cottage here after the first of June.

SAFETY FIRST IN DESCENDING STEEP HILLS

The careful motorist approaching a steep hill such as we now have on Ocean avenue, puts his car in second gear before reaching the actual descent. Should he delay and permit the car to gain speed, he will find it difficult to shift from high gear to second. It requires a great deal of energy to hold back a heavy car on a steep grade.

Concrete Streets, like Concrete Roads, have the maintenance built into them.

Concrete Alleys Led the Way to Concrete Streets in Whittier

When Whittier, California, found out what sanitary, near-looking alleys concrete pavement made, people naturally asked, "Why not concrete streets?"

Whittier now has 427,929 square yards of this firm, rigid, unyielding pavement. Many thousands more yards are to be added this year.

Concrete pavement will dress up your streets. Its true, even surface will always be free from ruts and bumps.

And the non-skid surface of concrete makes it always safe to drive on — another important advantage in a tourists' all-year wonderland like California.

Don't just say "paving." Say "Portland cement concrete" — the safe-to-drive-on pavement with the pleasing light gray color.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

ABALONES TO PLAY CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

For the fifth time an Abalone League schedule has ended in a tie, and a play-off is necessary to set up a champion. Tomorrow Fred Bechdolt's "Owls" and Halsted Yates' "Larks" line up at 1:30 on the Carmel Woods field to decide the issue.

"Owls" and "Larks" ended their regularly scheduled games with identical tallies of six victories and three defeats for a percentage of .666. In order to get into the tie the "Larks" had to defeat Jimmy Hopper's "Hawks" and they did it in the hardest fought game of the season, earning the victory with Fred Godwin's run in the ninth inning after Ted Kuster had tied it up by fine base running in the seventh.

The "Lark"-Hawk set-to was a pitching battle all the way, with Don Hale tossing them up for the winners and Charlie Berkey on the hill for the losers. All that remains to chronicle the finish of the 1926 Hooper Cup series is to observe that the Eagles finished as they started: in the cellar.

When Bech leads his warriors against the Yates clan tomorrow some bitter-baseball can be expected. One of the oldest Abalone League rivalries will be actively resumed, for Harrison Godwin and Fred Godwin play short-stop on the opposing nines. Charlie Frost and Tom Hooper or Winsor Joselyn in left, and Bill Young and Frenchy Murphy at third will contribute duels for supremacy that should enthral the crowd.

Players of the opposing teams are under orders to report at the field at 1 o'clock for full practice periods at bat and field. The game will be called promptly at 1:30.

OCEAN AVENUE : CARMEL

TO LOBOS

By C. B. Kelsey
Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Lobos, Outpost of the Golden West,
Defiant of tempest, and storm toss't seas,

Grim, and eternal, thy granite shafts
On thy bleak tops the sea birds rest.

Against thy sides the breakers roll,
And spray thy crests with wave and foam,

And thru thy clefts the ebbing tides
Shriek and wail as a dying soul.

Born of Vulcan, granite craig of old,
Megatherium, Mastodon, Saurian,
Sleth,

In the ebb and flow of time
Are memories of thy wrinkled crown
And to thy glory and renown.

THE BEST OF FRIENDS

The best of friends, it seems to me,
Is a dog, so faithful and true.

Who is it that rambles o'er valley and lea

And joyously plays with you?

Who is it that shares all your sorrows and woes,

And silently suffers with you?

Who is it that growlingly frightens your foes,

And does what you tell him to do?

He can do anything but talk, almost,
And he talks with his wistful brown eyes;

He can bring you sticks and carry
notes,

And at night by your feet he lies.

And yet there are those who abuse
this best friend

And know not the meaning of mercy;
They starve, kick and whip them time without end,

While he wincingly takes it so mutely.

'Tis a pity that some who are cruel and mean

Ne'er learn to treat a dog kindly;
For they'll never, no never, have a truer friend,

Nor one who will love them so blindly.

GOLDEN BOUGH TO PRESENT MARIONETTES NEXT WEEK

Motion Picture Showings Resumed;
Story of Play to be Read Preceding Night of Showing

Blanding and Mildred Sloan's Marionettes will be the bill at the Golden Bough next week-end instead of the Theatre's own production of Irving Brant's "To the Playground." The Brant play will be given its premiere a week later, May 7th and 9th, and will be repeated on the 14th and 15th.

Edward Kuster, director of the Theatre of the Golden Bough, has announced that he has found it impossible to supply the fantastic comedy, "The Man Who Ate the Popomack," with the all-English cast which the atmosphere of the play demands, and the production has been temporarily shelved.

The week-end motion picture schedule is about to be resumed. After a season of experimentation with the showing of pictures as "silent drama," without music, the management of the Golden Bough has concluded that continuous music during the running of the films has become indispensable to the full enjoyment of the picture by the majority of people. Music will henceforth accompany all motion pictures at the Golden Bough, which will open its season with "A Beggar on Horseback," secured at the request of many of its patrons. This delightful film will be shown on May 7th and 9th, in combination with the spoken play, "To the Playground."

The noted play by Kaufman and Connolly, from which the film version of "The Beggar on Horseback" is adapted, will be read from the fore-stage of the Theatre on Thursday evening, May 6. There will be no extra charge for this reading, which will take place at 7:45.

Modern Telephone Exchange Dwarfs 1877 Building

The new building of the New York Telephone Company in New York City to house eight large central offices—the first telephone exchange opened in Boston in 1877.

It is a far cry from the first telephone exchange to the modern exchange building which might be termed the solar plexus of the telephone body.

The first exchange for telephone service came into existence in 1877. It was the tiny office of a burglar alarm business operated by E. T. Holmes and was located on the top floor of the building. By day it served as a communication system, connecting six banks; by night it became a burglar alarm system. This was the first telephone exchange in the world, but it was strictly a private exchange. The first commercial exchange originated in New Haven, Conn., in 1878.

A striking example of the evolution of the telephone exchange building is the new building being completed in New York City by the New York Telephone Company. There are 29 stories above the ground, and five floors below the street level. This building will house the largest telephone exchange in the world, capable of serving 120,000 stations in the downtown section. In fact, it will house more telephone equipment than is found in some entire European countries. Along its walls and through its floors will be more than 168,000 miles of wire, enough to encircle the globe nearly seven times. In the basement will converge 400 lead-covered cables, containing 693,000 separate wires.

"Fire" at the Forest Theatre

By Roberta Balfour

By a singularly happy twist of Fate, "Fire," Mary Austin's weird, poetic dramatization of an ancient Indian Myth, was chosen by the Forest Theater directors for their premiere this season, and it will be produced by John Northern Hilliard in the Forest Theater in Carmel July 1, 2 and 3. So it hardly seems accident which brought Laura Adams Armer, the only mystic painter and interpreter of the Hopi and Navajo myths to Carmel recently, with her marvelous and unique exhibition of nineteen murals, and numerous photographs of Navajo ceremonials, and sand-painting, of butte and mesa, of gods and man. These contacts, are epochal and so it happened that John Northern Hilliard was fortunate enough to secure the promise of Mrs. Armer's personal assistance in creating proper atmosphere and in bringing something vital and faithful to tradition for the production. Already the first plans are formed for an able corps of assistants, including Dr. Alfred E. Burton and John Parker. And very soon Mr. Hilliard and Dr. Burton will go to the Painted Desert to study conditions and evolve from the contact as much as possible for two men of such great vision—a drama beyond the expectations of the most sanguine. From the Indian Pueblos of Walpi and Oraibi, the thousand-year-old Hopi villages, and from the Painted Desert in Arizona, where the Navajos also live on the same reservation, it is hoped they will be permitted to bring a group of young braves to take significant and dignified part in the play.

"Fire" was first produced by Mary Austin in August of 1913 for one night only, at the Forest Theater. Her second play, "The Arrowmaker," was done both here and in New York, preference being given to the local production naturally as it was essentially an outdoor drama. It is three years since John Northern Hilliard presented "Kismet" with such artistry, though it is generally conceded that in his presentation of "The Yellow Jacket" five years ago both he and the Forest Theater players achieved their greatest success. The almost supernal beauty of that matchless setting will not soon be forgotten, and it is in the subtle arrangement of his opening scene and its beauty as a single gem that he has captured his audiences as a unit, in all his outdoor productions, and holds it to the end. This is one of the secrets of his psychology of the outdoor drama and of his success with his audiences. He built his own hypotheses upon experience, having no precedent to follow as this was the first forest theater in America.

Singularly enough, traditions of the ancient races have formed a lure for both Hilliard and Laura Armer. Both have come to the Indian legend and lore after a close study of the Chinese. Mrs. Armer studied Chinese at the University of California for a year, and worked out themes in paint of great beauty and significance. As symbolism is the universally understood language of all primitive races, its symbology had to be mastered. And three years ago she won economies for her staging and costuming of Pichel's productions of "The Faithful" by Maschfield and "The Queen's Enemies" by Dunsany. These were given at the Berkeley Playhouse and at San Francisco.

It is in the love for the true American and his fast vanishing race and tradition that these two artists now will work together, for the presentation of such a pageantry of artistic and historic possibilities as Carmel may never see again. Everything that can bring the illusion of a return to the primitive period of the legend that inspired the gifted author of "Fire" will be acquired, from setting, costuming, coloring, lighting and music, to those great silences of which our new and surfeited with the too much of magic.

The Indian legend of the play deals with the fact that the coyote helped to bring fire to the tribe. Evind, the hero, is a great dreamer and poet. He believes his destiny is to help his people and that fire is not an evil spirit, but a benefit. So he secures the aid of the slinking sleuth of the desert dunes, the coyote, to accomplish his task. Afterward, as keeper of the sacred fire, he falls from his high position and is driven out by his tribe. Later, he is made a god. As in the first presentation of the play, Herbert Heron will be cast for this part. The role is considered by all critics to be eminently fitted to his particular spirit of interpretation, and the finest he ever essayed in the Forest Theater, of which he was the founder.

During the season of the summer festival the unique exhibition of Laura Adams Armer's Indian myth paintings, nineteen in number, will again be shown in Carmel, for the edification of those attending who desire further illumination on the Indian lore and tradition. Her photographs of the Navajo sand-paintings are the only ones ever permitted to be taken by the Shaman, or Medicine Man. This form of art is the oldest in the world, and only through her contacts and work of reproduction is it being spared to us. New commissions are under way in her studio at Berkeley now for the important museums of archaeology and her priceless collection will doubtless be purchased by one of them for a permanent acquisition to our scant records of American legendary art. These are but the nucleus of a group to follow.

John Northern Hilliard, some fifteen years ago, brought with him to Carmel a fund of knowledge of human nature acquired through a childhood in New York state, a boyhood spent in the plains of the Dakotas, a youth in newspaper routine of Chicago dailies. Adding a deep study of the classics he has been able to elucidate a working hypothesis from the standpoint of citizen, scholar and poet—one who has heard the call of the dove at dawn on the desert, and the cry of seamaidens beneath the caverns of Lobos. Besides his books written in collaboration with Grace Sartwell Mason, and his other literary work and produced plays, he wrote with Herbert Heron and presented "Tusitala," a masque of Robert Louis Stevenson, distinctly indigenous as a drama, founded on Stevenson's sojourn in and around Monterey. Those who recall the thrilling beauty of his prologue and its ineffable charm also concede the matchless climax of the funeral cortege when the great Tusitala was borne up the mountain to weird music of native Samoans. A trick of the gods brought the beautiful Samoan dance of death for us. It was not merely accident which gave us a young woman who had grown up beside Stevenson. Her father was his manager in Samoa, and as a child she had played on his knee. As a grietorn girl she had danced the Dance of Death at his actual funeral rites in the Islands.

John Northern Hilliard, with his vision, poetry and imagination, will have almost too much to give us when

OUR CITY OVERSEERS

CARMEL is to be congratulated on the splendid type of citizenry of which its city board of trustees is composed. Every man on the board is sincerely devoted to the best interests of the community. They will all work together for the maintenance of civic ideals. They will see that the laws are enforced. They will enact no legislation which is obnoxious to the people.

The art aspirations of this art community will be fostered and encouraged to the fullest extent. Legitimate business will get a square deal.

Financial considerations as well as actual necessity will be the requisite for all improvements. The years to come will witness tremendous strides in Carmel's progress, and the citizens should be thankful that for the next two years they have a board capable and willing to meet every need.

HANDS OFF THE MONTEREY PRESIDIO

VANDERBILT'S penny sheet had a whole lot to do when it suggested that, because it was proposed to abandon the San Francisco Presidio, it would be better to abandon the Monterey Presidio.

It ill becomes the great city of San Francisco to endorse any such proposition. What do they mean by attempting to deprive us of this federal institution?

If San Francisco wishes to retain its Presidio, let them fight for it in a decent, legitimate manner. Picking on a smaller community it cowardly.

Monterey and much of the country north and south of it is in the San Francisco trade center. If for no other reason than to retain their business—to prevent it from going to Los Angeles—the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce should at once disavow any plan to abandon the Monterey Presidio.

A HUMAN SAFETY VALVE

RADICAL organizations are being invited to join with the National Bureau of Information and Education, in the publication of a monthly periodical to be called New Politics in the United States.

The new journal is to contain twenty-four pages, three or four of which are to be devoted to current news and the others to be used by economic, semi-political or reform organizations which agree to participate in the enterprise.

Ultra-conservatives in this and other nations too often object to the publications as well as oral utterance of radical individuals or organizations.

This is a mistaken attitude. Let the radical have the fullest freedom in expressing himself—his own statements will in nine cases out of ten defeat his aims, because they will not appeal to the rank and file of sober-minded citizens.

The way to counteract radical expressions is not to clamp the lid down on boiling and seething ideas, thus causing an inevitable explosion later, but to negative such expressions by presenting sound and logical arguments against them.

Let the public hear both sides of a question, and the majority will arrive at sensible conclusions.

THE GOSSIP

O the gossip's ceaseless din
Going out or coming in
By detailing some fresh sin
Of their neighbor
Making earth to hell akin
Is their labor.

Making towns with slander rife,
By defaming girl or wife,
Out of nothing making strife
And ill will,
Spending all their busy life
Speaking ill.

Their constant occupation
Is, with base insinuation,
To blast the reputation
Of a friend,
And with cunning falsification
Gain this end.

Of all the doubtful sources
From which they gather forces
For their slanderous discourses,
"They say" is worst.
May they all become unwell
If they do not cease to tell Lies that come right straight from hell;
May they burst.

CARMEL TO MANILA AND RETURN

Confirmation of a radio message sent to Mrs. Mary E. Hand, touring the world on the "Franconia," was received this week. On her arrival at Manila she found in her stateroom Col. Clair Foster's radio message of greeting from her husband and friends in Carmel, which was received at Fort McKinley. Through the Fort McKinley operator a reply message was received here. Mrs. Hand is expected home next week.

FIRST DANCE OF THE SEASON

In the beautiful new dining room, at Pine Inn tonight, the first dance of the season will be given. About fifty young people from Oakland have signified their intention of being present. All Carmelites who wish to "trip the merry" are invited. Mr. Jordan has engaged an orchestra for the occasion.

RALPH C. MULLER

Ralph C. Muller, whose announcement appears elsewhere in this paper, is a young man 26 years of age, a Monterey county boy, born and raised in Salinas, the son of H. V. Muller, deceased, and Mrs. Nellie Muller, who is also a Monterey county product of the old school, a member of the pioneer Kelleher family, and history portrays the fact that there was only one white child beside Nellie when she was ushered into this world, therefore she has the right to the distinction of being the second white child born in Salinas.

Ralph was educated in the grammar school of Salinas and on graduating from the latter institution, accepted a position in the Monterey County Bank, serving for six years. Close attention to his duties, his courteous and accommodating mannerism, splendid personality, won him many friends. He advanced in the bank until he had reached the position of assistant cashier and when not on duty in the bank he assisted his father in the undertaking business, thus, under the able tutorage of the senior Muller he became proficient in the work which is now depending upon him. Mr. Muller, Sr., having passed away a year or so ago.

Ralph owns and conducts one of the finest mortuary parlors south of San Francisco, beautifully equipped and will ever stand as a monument to the enterprise of H. V. Muller, and there is perhaps no better known man in Monterey county.

H. V. Muller held the office of coroner and administrator for 12 years—a position he held with credit. In entering the race for the office of coroner and public administrator, Ralph does so at the earnest solicitation of many friends, making a clean cut campaign, and promising to discharge the duties of office to the best of his ability, these energies being in keeping with his business, therefore he can give his time to the work. Besides, he claims that he needs the office.

Pointing with pride to his record in the bank where he was employed and his life from childhood to his present position as recommendation to the political office now sought.

KEEP YOUR EYES ON MULLER!

CARMEL TO SEE SLOAN MARIONETTES

The Blanding Sloan Marionettes will hold the boards at the Theatre of the Golden Bough next Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings, with a special children's performance Saturday afternoon. In addition to the principal offering of the group, "Rastus Plays Pirate," a unique and highly diverting play by darky puppets, there will be several other interesting and amusing marionette plays of an unusual character.

Blanding Sloan and his gifted wife, formerly Mildred Taylor, are well known here. Sloan was instructor in painting and design in the summer extension course of the University of California at the Golden Bough in 1924. Prior to that the Sloans made a stop-over at Carmel on their motor trip around the world, intending to stay three days, but finally remaining as many months and numbering their local friends by the score.

The Sloans have recently opened their unique "Shack" Theatre in San Francisco, located in an outlying district and designed primarily for marionette performances. Its fame has spread rapidly and it is only a question of time before the Sloan puppets will be regularly housed in a downtown playhouse.

The Carmel engagement is the first of a number of touring bookings. The Sloans are assured an enthusiastic send-off for their unique enterprise, as Carmel has always been fond of skillful puppeteering.

Special music will be played and coffee will be served during intermissions.

California Leads in Electrical Development

California has the greatest electric power development in the nation. This development has taken place in your lifetime. It is still going on with ever-increasing strides.

Only thirty years ago electric service was limited to lighting. There were only small steam plants, no water power plants and electricity was high in price.

Today large, efficient power sources are interconnected with wide transmission systems, carrying lower priced energy to cities, towns and countrysides, making possible the production and prosperity of California towns, industries, ranches, orchards and vineyards.

FACTS

The cost of living is 65% higher than in 1913.

The cost of electricity is less than in 1913.

Good electric service is one of the cheapest things you can buy.

Our Commercial Department stands ready to help you in your power, lighting and heating problems.

CARMEL TO HAVE WOMAN'S CLUB

An enthusiastic group of twenty-five women met at Pine Inn last Wednesday afternoon to discuss plans for the Woman's Club of Carmel, formerly the Carmel College Women's Club.

It was decided that, owing to the absence during the summer of so many residents, the permanent organization be postponed until the fall.

A temporary committee was appointed to function during the summer and to arrange for the first meeting in September. The committee members are: Miss Mabel Spicker, Mrs. C. H. Lowell, Miss M. P. Clough, Mrs. L. W. Trumbull, and Mrs. B. G. Clark.

An outline of constitution and by-laws was read and discussed. This will be revised and ready for adoption the first fall meeting.

A most cordial invitation is extended to residents of Carmel who would like to have an active interest in the Carmel Woman's Club, to send their name and address to Miss Mabel Spicker, Forest Hill School, or any other member of the committee. Due notice will be given of the first meeting.

The Club wishes to extend its gratitude to Mr. John B. Jordan for his kindly hospitality.

SIXTEENTH CENTURY RUG

A fine Indo-Persian rug of the sixteenth century has just been presented to the Chicago Art Institute by John R. Thompson. Critics believe it to be an Indian rug after the design of a Persian "Hera" or "Ispahan." Indian Mogul art excels in technical skill and delights in painstaking elaboration of every detail, which is characteristic of the present rug. The color of the rug is also peculiar to the Indian rug weavers, who loved to combine wine-red with bluish-pink details, set directly in the background, and they combine pale and medium blue and pale and medium green in the same way. This interesting color combination may be studied in the present rug.

William A. Griffith is exhibiting several interesting landscapes and marines at the Ebell Club, Pomona, during the month of April. There will be about fifteen canvases in the exhibit, which was secured through Miss Alice Ring, Chairman of the art department of the Ebell Club.

LAGUNA PICTURES IN SPRING EXHIBITION

In the Spring exhibition at the Los Angeles Museum, there are several of the Laguna Beach painters represented. Clarence Hinkle, Norman Chamberlain, who is showing a figure piece, William A. Griffith, Miss Anna H. Hills, F. Carl Smith and Karl Yens. There are many more who are members of the Laguna Beach Art Association and who exhibit in Los Angeles.

NOTES

The tenth exhibition of contemporary American oil paintings is being held at the Corcoran Gallery, Washington, D. C. The opening private view was held the third of April.

This year the regular annual exhibition of the Chicago Architectural Club will be held in Blackstone Hall, Art Institute, from April 30 to May 30. Blackstone Hall with its splendid collection of monumental casts from the great architectural masterpieces of France, given to the Institute by the French Government, is an especially fitting place to hold this exhibition.

Celia B. Seymour has recently exhibited three portraits at the Oakland and Don Lee Galleries. Those done in Carmel of Charles Sumner Greene and Kevin Wallace were shown. The other portraits included those of Brace Hayden and Julius Kahn and "The Jolly Spaniard" which were exhibited in Carmel last year. Her new studio home in Carmel is completed and will be occupied by she and Halldis Stabell this summer.

MARRIED IN SAN FRANCISCO

Miss Marian C. Daniels and Arthur T. Shand of this city were married in San Francisco last Saturday. The ceremony was attended by Mrs. Hal D. Bragg and Miss Camilla Daniels, sisters of the bride.

Mrs. Shand came here six years ago from Grand Rapids, Michigan, where her father, George D. Daniels, is a lumber operator. She has appeared often in local theatricals, in which profession she had been thoroughly trained.

Arthur Shand has resided here about four years and is in the real estate business.

The couple will make their home here upon their return from a two-weeks' honeymoon in southern California and Mexico.

P. T. A. MEETING

It is hoped that all who attended the first meeting to organize a Parent-Teacher Association will come to the second meeting next Wednesday, at 3:15 p.m., at the Sunset School auditorium, and bring others who are interested.

Mrs. Bingham of Palo Alto, the district organizer, will be present to complete the organization.

An ever widening interest in this work is anticipated, not only on the part of parents, but also from those who are interested from the feeling of community responsibility for the environment of childhood.

Victory Highway in Nevada

Victory Highway in western Nevada where an island, the course of a river and railroad tracks were moved for the highway.

Nevada, with the sparsest population of any state in the Union, has already completed or under construction, more than 1,000 miles of state highways, according to the report of the state highway commission to the headquarters of the Victory Highway association. The Nevada Highway News says: "This has been a vast undertaking but it has made the people of the state of Nevada just that much better off. They have paid for the roads without complaining and are clamoring for further improvement." The state highway engineers are heaving a sigh of relief, and perhaps blushing a blush of honest pride now and again. They went into a certain canyon in the mountain portion of their state—a canyon already filled with a river and a railroad, with farms occupying odd corners of land—and built a highway.

Cow Testing Associations Invaluable Aid to Milk Production

Elimination of non-productive cows from milk herds increases net profits.

Getting more milk from fewer cows is the aim of the cow testing association. Hundreds of cases have demonstrated in a most striking manner that the weeding out of non-productive milk cows and better care for the producing members of the milk herd pay big dividends.

This point was strongly stressed in an exhibit at the International Dairy Exposition held at Indianapolis last October. An actual instance was given which disclosed the following facts.

A milk producer had a herd of six milk cows producing 27,000 pounds of milk annually. He joined a cow testing association. The first step taken was to weed out the non-productive cows, that is, those cows yielding insufficient milk to net a profitable income over and above feed cost.

The weeding out process left only four cows in the milk herd. But the remaining cows were fed according to their individual requirements. No sanitary or beneficial feeding measure was neglected. During stabling months, they were given plenty of clean bedding; stables were kept clean; the long hair on flanks and udders were kept clipped. The cows were brushed or wiped with a damp cloth before each milking. Utensils were sterilized. The stable was well ventilated and plenty of clean, pure water was given the cows.

A year from the time the member joined the association, his records showed an increase in milk to more than 23,000 pounds from the four cows as compared to 27,000 pounds from six cows prior to this period. There was more than a corresponding increase in butterfat.

The cow testing association consists of about twenty-six farmers who co-operate and employ a trained tester to test their cows for economical production of milk and butterfat. The tester spends one day a month on each farm and obtains a complete record of each cow's milk and butterfat production, feed consumed, feed cost, growth, and income, and income over feed.

The first cow testing association in the United States was that organized at Newaygo County, Michigan, in 1905. Since then, there has been a fairly constant growth until 1925 shows a tally of 732 cow testing associations with excellent prospects of the number doubling within the next three years.

WARNING!

Certain unscrupulous manufacturers and distributors from time to time advertise various battery solutions as "a cure for every battery ill." They guarantee to "charge a dead battery in a short time." In fact, they'll guarantee most anything. This week's issue of Radiocast, an excellent publication otherwise, contains such an advertisement.

Nothing should ever be added to the solution of a storage battery but pure, distilled water, and only enough of that to completely cover the plates. A storage battery receives its full amount of acid at its birth, and no more should ever be added unless part of the solution has been spilled, in which case a competent battery man should add only enough to replace that lost.

BLUES SAW RED; NOW REDS ARE BLUE

Three beatings weren't enough to break the spirit of Dale Leidig's "Blues." On Wednesday afternoon, Dale himself got in there and pitched while his mates fell upon the "Reds" and treated them to a thorough trimming. The score was 14 to 8, and the difference between the teams on the day's work was even greater than the margin in the score book.

Some of the Blues' success may be attributed to the gallery of friendly fans that cheered them on to their merciless massacre of the Reds. The three-time losers, when they finally hit a winning stride, couldn't make enough runs to satisfy the howling fans.

No time was lost in annihilating the Red cohorts. Eleven times Blue batters came up in the first inning and seven runs were amassed. Playing with determination, the Blues never gave the proud Reds a chance to get out from under the avalanche of hits. In the field the Blues play sterling ball. Teddy Leidig scintillated at shortstop, and at the bat. He was the star of the day. Stanley Bishop at first, Arminine at second, and Spider Phillips and Ed Dewey at third, formed an airtight infield, while Lyle Palmer, behind the bat, hung on to Dale Leidig's twists and shoots like a big-leaguer. The Blue outfield of George Turner, Carlisle Lewis, and Ambrose Love played errorless ball.

With everything against them, the Reds still gave a good account of themselves. Hilt Heron, the Red captain, was out of the game, and Johnny Campbell shifted over to shortstop and the captain's job. The acting captain had a bad time in the early innings, but soon was ranging far and wide to cut down hits. Billy Argo, brought in from left to cover third, did a workmanlike job. Pete Floor at second, Bayne Reamer behind the bat, and the outfield of Charlie Grimshaw, Arthur Clay, Bob Cone and George Young bore up nobly once the first-inning ascension was ended. Jack Parker filled in at first base and played a steady game. Milton Roche had the tough assignment of pitching with all the breaks against him. He was going stronger at the finish than at the start and should be as effective as ever in the subsequent games.

The Shirred Cape Shows the Soft Side of a New Fashion

The first capes of the Spring were cut on circular lines and were swung from a neat and fitted shoulder. But as the season advances, the French dressmakers have admitted the straight cape to the mode. It is shirred to a tie collar and its lower edge is straight, so that it can be made from bordered wide fabrics. It is often unlined, and for the country it is gay and charming made in flowered English prints, in chintz or in terry cloth. For urban life it is made of satin crepe, soft satin or taffeta. It makes a perfectly delightful ensemble in printed or patterned summer frocks.
